Williams Woodward and Hireserve Ltd announce formal partnership

Partnership combines specialist implementation experience with leading recruitment software

Specialist ERP project management and consultancy firm, Williams Woodward, today announced its partnership with Hireserve, a leading recruitment software provider. This partnership will strengthen Williams Woodward's portfolio of existing partners, which includes a longstanding relationship with Unit4, owner of the Unit4 Business World suite of products, in which Williams Woodward has extensive experience.

Also an official Unit4 Solution Partner, Hireserve's recruitment software is used by organisations across the globe, including CERN, Global Radio and Arriva. With a sleek and powerful Applicant Tracking System, Hireserve aids vacancy management, candidate attraction and employer branding.

'This partnership brings together two experts in their fields – Hireserve from the e-Recruitment space and Williams Woodward from the project management and consultancy services sector. We're delighted that our partnership is now formalised and look forward to working with Williams Woodward on a range of projects, from public sector clients to commercial organisations.'

- Jeremy Ovenden – Managing Director, Hireserve

'Partnering with Hireserve enables us to formally align our expertise in implementing the Hireserve e-Recruitment solution with our expertise in implementing ERP solutions, extending the breadth of implementation services we can offer to current and prospective customers, many of whom are looking for a leading edge e-Recruitment software solution to underpin their HR Recruitment processes.'

- Angie Marlow – Deputy Managing Director, Williams Woodward

Williams Woodward and Hireserve have and continue to work on a number of recent projects in partnership.
